Libraries are facing many challenges and threats due to Internet and digital revolution and globalization (Oketunji, 2018). Today, library resources are being made available in a variety of digital formats and media, thus filtering and choosing the right information at the right time from the ocean of raw information is a major challenge even to users. Consequently, there has to be innovation in libraries and in the profession generally. There is an urgent necessity for librarianship to change with the times, embrace the new technologies and integrate them into its engagements with communities. Public Libraries Public libraries are few and far between in Nigeria. The culture of reading has not been developed in Nigeria and so there has not been a strong call for libraries to be built in local communities. Public libraries have not become a large part of library services in Nigeria and it has been estimated that they are only used by approximately 1% of the population, partially because of their irrelevance to the illiterate. Each of the 36 Nigerian states has its own State Library system but these are not well funded and the libraries are lacking in resources.
