Specifically, it analyzes the range of views regarding the religious significance of the land promise in Catholic statements on Jews and Judaism. These official Vatican statements affirm the covenant in general but decline to offer any theological legitimacy to this particular aspect of it. One of the main aims of the Congregation of Notre Dame de Sion is to remind the Church of God's faithful love for the Jewish people and to be in dialogue with Jews in the context of interfaith dialogue. Quite apart from broadening the Christian understanding of their own religious background, these works, as we have said, counterbalance the anti-Semitic elements of the New Testament. In the last three months of 2016 another group, the Fulani herdsmen, murdered 808 people and wounded 57 (both Christians and moderate Muslims), burned down 53 villages, including 1,422 houses and destroyed 16 churches. While these two groups are private, social and economic pressure against Christians from the government makes it difficult for Christians to survive. Years of Muslim nationalism effectively pushed out all Jews except a handful of women over 80 who remain in Cairo, and their spiritual leader Magda Haroun, who is in her sixties. According to legend, the Ben Ezra Synagogue in Cairo, also called the El-Geniza Synagogue and the Synagogue of the Palestinians, is located on the site where Moses was found as a baby.
